O'Neill for the day, leaving the next morning for Galice to inspect the property with a view to installing a mill and other machinery. The party was composed of Paul Bright, of Wilmington, Del., president of the company and president of the Home Life Insurance Co. of America, Master William Bright, Samuel Slesinger, prominent wholesale merchant, W. J. Cleland, of the Robt. Cleland & Sons Carpet Manufacturers of Philadelphia, Mrs. Cleland and a sister, Miss Walker and J. L. Garret, prominent attorney of Chester, Pa., all of whom are heavily interested in the company.

Amateur Burglars.

The Hyde grocery and M. E. Moore's second hand store were burglarized Wednesday morning at about 3 or 4 o'clock. At Hyde's they entered by breaking a glass in the back door and secured half a box of two for a quarter cigars and about 30 coppers. Papers on the desk were overturned in an attempt to secure something valuable. At the Moore place they entered through a window and secured a ladies gold watch, one new and two old revolvers, several high grade pearl handled knives and other articles, amounting in value to $40 or $50. The burglars then departed. Three different families were awakened by the noise at various places, but nothing was done. Had they telephoned to central the night watch or day marshal could have been on hand in a few minutes.

Several parties were suspected and marshal McGrew made a trip nearly to Gold Hill to overhaul two young men who seemed to answer the description but they were not the ones implicated. It is thought by some to be the work of Iowa boys; they were certainly anything but old hands at the business.

A Brief Record of Local Events.

Grants Pass juniors played a game of ball Sunday with Merlin and although the Merlin team had its regular number of players and the juniors only six, Merlin was defeated with a score of 19 to 8. This team is covering itself with glory by winning so many games this season.

A. B. Cornell, the Oregon Life Insurance man, and family left early Monday morning in company with Cora Matteson and wife for their mountain home in the Galice Creek Mining district, where they will enjoy the pleasures of camp life for a couple of weeks. Cornell was well supplied with hunting equipment, hunters' license and no doubt has visions of dried venison and plenty of fresh meat for camp use, the only assured feature the writer can see to fulfill his expectations is, that Cora knows where to find the game and is a good marksman, otherwise would suggest his taking a supply of bacon and fresh meat from town.

Geo. Neuber, through whose instrumentality 10,000 trout were recently transported from Medford to the waters of Squaw Lake, with a loss of but three fish, says he is willing to defray the expense of planting 90,000 more in the upper Rogue and its tributaries if the government will supply the stock. He asserts that there is over 1500 miles of river and brook in the reservation that does not contain enough fish to stock a trying pan.—Tribune.

Dean, outer sentinel; Mrs. S. Berry, captain of guards.

R. M. Robinson of Wilderville was tendered a surprise Wednesday night by about 25 of his neighbors and friends who arrived in time for supper which had been prepared for them. So well was the plan executed that Mr. Robinson did not suspect that his 50th birthday would be any different from any other and it was necessary to send him a hurry up call to quit work in the field and come to supper. The neighbors spent the entire evening pleasantly, the enjoyment of the occasion being heightened by J. C. K. McCann's Edison Phonograph, which did continuous service.

The 4th of July committee are endeavoring to raise funds to liquidate a deficit of $296.00. The total revenue was $327.35 and the expenses $123.95. This is due partially to two firms who had subscribed, going out of business and not paying, and to the refusal of a considerable number of business men to subscribe. They went on the idea that the celebration would be held anyway and that they would receive no direct benefit. The Redmen, under whose auspices the celebration was held have arranged a ball game for next Wednesday afternoon between the fat and lean men of Grants Pass which it is hoped will raise some funds.

Lynn Purdin, editor of the Gold Hill News, was in Grants Pass Monday. Mr. Purdin is one of the hustling young newspaper men of Rogue River Valley and is publishing one of the best small town papers in Oregon. Mr. Purdin was a caller at the Courier office and in speaking about the Oregon Irrigation Convention and the display of "Rogue River products" that is to be held in Grants Pass the second week in September he stated that he would do all possible with his paper to aid in making the event a success and he was confident that the business men of Gold Hill would heartily co-operate in this movement to develop an irrigation system for Rogue River Valley and to show strangers the varied products and vast resources of this most favored of Valleys.
